Following the presentation, several students, as well as staff who support DACA students, posed questions. A summary of the questions and responses:

What if my status expires in March? In August? Should I apply for renewal now?
Students should apply within 120 days but not before 150 days of the date of DACA expiration. For example as of Tuesday, Jan. 23, the 150-day mark is June 22. See full details on the deadlines within the presentation.

Can certain DACA students travel outside the United States?
No. DACA students should not travel outside the United States – they will be denied re-entry.

Is there a set end date regarding a student’s ability to renew?
There is no set date. We don’t know when it will change, but it will change, pending further court action.

Will something definitely happen by March 5? (phase out date for DACA to end)
We don’t know. It could end if Congress does not act on pending legislation -- that’s always a possibility. Here at IU, we are preparing for the worst-case scenario.

Is there financial assistance for application fees?
We are not aware of any groups providing financial assistance. If we are made aware of any assistance, we will post the information to the DACA site.
